Management of police information - Guidance overview

This page is from APP, the official source of professional practice for policing.

First published 24 October 2014

1 min read

The principles of management of police information (MoPI) provide a way of balancing proportionality and necessity that are at the heart of effective police information management. They also highlight the issues that need to be considered in order to comply with the law and manage risk associated with police information.

This section of authorised professional practice (APP) – management of police information – is the detailed guidance referred to in Home Office (2005) Code of Practice on Management of Police Information. It supersedes Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) (2010) Guidance on Management of Police Information.

Tags

Information management