

Civil emergencies - Guidance overview

This page is from APP, the official source of professional practice for policing.

First published 23 October 2013

Police forces require robust, yet flexible, emergency planning arrangements to meet the requirements of the Civil Contingencies Act 2004, and to facilitate a professional, structured response to any emergency, regardless of the cause.

As such, many organisations including National Policing Chiefs Council and the College of Policing have committed to the principles of the Charter for Families Bereaved through Public Tragedy.

This APP module covers:

- civil contingencies
- disaster victim identification

It consolidates information from a variety of sources including decommissioned guidance, relevant legislation, the Strategic Policing Requirement, the National Policing Requirement and Joint Emergency Service Interoperability Principles \(JESIP\) products.
