

Knife crime evidence briefing - Guidance overview

Evidence briefing to inform decisions about approaches to tackling knife crime.

First published 1 January 2019

This briefing provides police and crime reduction partners with:

- a summary of the evidence on factors associated with knife crime
- strategies and interventions to tackle knife crime

Evidence has been identified through a non-systematic search of the literature, taking reliable sources and government strategy and research reports as a base and consulting with subject matter experts to ensure the synthesis presents a rounded picture.

It is not intended to review all of the available research evidence, nor present a formal assessment of its quality.
